Dear Paul

We've had such a significant improvement in business efficiency and productivity that I had to write and thank you for the great 'Time Management' workshop you conducted with PC Locs. Training our whole team, and especially the sales staff, in this area of skill where we didn't have expertise, has revolutionized our business communications.

We appreciate your willingness to work within our time frame, at our pace, and in those areas where we wanted to focus, without bringing your own agenda. These simple and highly effective techniques have made perfect sense in our business, and produced very real results. Although it takes practice not to revert to the way we're previously done things, actively choosing your methods has been well worthwhile.

We have already, and will continue to recommend the services of Edensilk. Thanks Paul.

Yours sincerely

James Symons
National Marketing Manager
